

DOG

Corny Jokes

Written by Susan Sherbert

Original Dog Corny Jokes and Humor

Written by Susan Sherbert

May all your “Ruff” times be shared with your best friend

Original
Corny Jokes

Fun Facts and Trivia

I read that 65% of all statistics are made up

The U.S. recognizes 161 breeds of dog

Internationally there are over 400 breeds

Greyhounds can run up to 45 miles an hour

Dogs are thought to have the intelligence of a 2-3 year old toddler.

Dogs have about 100 different facial expressions, most of them involve their ears.

The first dog registered with the American kennel Club was an English setter names Adonis. The year was 1884.

Basenjjs are a barkless breed, but they do yodel or howl.

Dogs are not color blind. They can tell the difference between blue, yellow, and grey.

How can you tell when a dog is lying?

By the length of the TALE

What kind of pet did the husband give his nagging wife?

A HOUND dog

What do you give a dog for a cold?

A chew (achew)

What did the carpet cleaner name his new puppy?

Spot

What breed of dogs can't resist a milk shake?

A MALT-ese (maltese)

Why did the dog think the tree needed a vet?

Because it didn't have any BARK

What do rich dogs have on the walls of their dog houses?

PAW prints

What is this?

A CHILI-dog

What's the worst thing about a new dog?

The pup PEE

What do you get when your dog eats your alarm clock?

A WATCH dog

How did the family finally manage to get rid of their flea problem?

They got TICKED off

What does a dog want to see under the tree at Christmas?

A Chew Chew train

What kind of dogs do track coaches prefer?

LAP dogs

Why did the boy name his golden retriever Doctor?

Because it never went anywhere without its LABcoat

A Simply Amusing Look at...

DOGS

Humor Written by Susan Sherbert

Dogs are truly amazing creatures. Well I don't mean creatures, because creatures kind of implies something creepy and dogs are nothing but pure joy. Okay, when they are puppies they chew and pee, but so do kids. Yet dogs are part of the family so you love them anyway and start to train them to behave like proper little human beings, except they are dogs. You can tell by the fur.

Aside from a few minor differences that aren't their fault, dogs are a lot like kids. They both are demanding and want your undivided attention. And although dogs can't talk, they sure know how to push your buttons so they get what they want. Luckily their irresistible charm mostly applies to obtaining food. I couldn't imagine the financial impact if dogs could use electronics and started begging for high tech gadgets. We'd all be in trouble then, because who can resist those puppy dog eyes.

Yeah, dogs are charmers all right, and they are certainly members of the family, but some people just don't understand this. People like health inspectors. I'm not totally sure why dogs aren't allowed in places that serve food, except maybe for the flea thing, but I've see dogs that are far better trained than some of those kids they allow in restaurants these days. And even if you did have a dog that decided to wander to the next table, all you have to do is pull on the leash and the problem is solved. And I'd have a dog's bark over a high pitched tantrum any day.

But I suppose, until you can train a dog to eat with a knife and fork, then they just won't be allowed in restaurants. And maybe that is kind of a good thing.

Why? Because if dogs were allowed in restaurants, that would mean they would be eating restaurant food. And no human being, even a child, can come anywhere close to that special trait reserved exclusively for the canine species. Dogs are totally awesome creatures, but why did they have to come with dog farts!

About Susan Sherbert

Published Author - Grown-ups Don't Skip Have FUN Be HappyEnjoyLife is a motivational book that inspires adults to have more fun. It is full of humorous stories and lessons that help grown-ups bring back creativity and dreams.

Silver Award winning humor columnist - Written over 100 issues of Simply Amusing a newsletter of absolutely no importance, was a regular humor columnist for several magazines.

She also self published a humorous book about short sheeting a bed. A national linen chain used the book, as a free gift with purchase two years in a row. Over 4,000 copies were sold.

Susan has also written over 50 corny joke books, and six humor book. She is a business owner & an avid golfer.

